A Worcester small round bowl

A Worcester small round bowl, the exterior decorated in coloured enamels, probably in the London atelier of James Giles, in Chinese Mandarin style with figures and a dog in a garden, within black and gilt borders, on a black and iron red diaper ground, panelled with purple monochrome landscapes, within lobed panels, 6 1/8" diameter, circa 1768-70, no mark

See Stockspring Antiques, The Stephen Hanscombe Porcelain Collection, number 86, for a similarly decorated teapot
